

The Kindness Kids' Creed

We, the children of all nations, want to live in a better world where people of different cultures and religions are respected. We want to have housing, good food, medical care, quality education, and time to relax with family and friends. Terror spreads anguish, sadness, tears and pain caused by armed conflicts and violence of war. The fight for power and money is worthless. The lives of our brothers are more important. We hope that our nations become patriots, and do not fight for lost wars. We want peace and love to be found in every household in the world.
