

Funding of Raptor Conservation Programs

Source: Global Email Interviews

Country	Private & organizations	Governmental	Comments
Australia	X		All native animals are protected and Queensland has an EPA [Environmental Protection Agency]
Belgium	X	X	Government provides legislation and some funding.
Belize	X		Government funds education outreach, full support for bringing birds into country for release, and military helps with overflights to locate their birds.
Botswana	X		Dept. of Wildlife looks to other agencies for information and research because they don't have an ornithologist.
Brazil	X		No government funding.
Burundi	X		Government endorses some projects and collaborates in "implementation of activities that contribute to conserve" birds of prey.
Chile	X		Importance of raptors is being recognized by the government in a small way.
Colombia	X	X
Ecuador	X		Government is started to recognize importance of raptors.
England	X		Government support through legislation.
Indonesia	X		Government does some support, but only a little.
Malta	X		Government starting to recognize importance of protecting birds of prey but the illegal hunting/poaching require more police than they have.
Mongolia	X		Government does not really recognize importance of raptors.
Northern Ireland	X		New government since 5/2007. Provide money occasionally.
Paraguay	X		Government does not recognize need for conservation.
Philippines	X		Government assists with permits, manpower support, laws, and policies for bird protection.
Portugal	X		Private funding and grants. The law protects birds of prey but there is no public money set aside for it. High number of endangered birds.
Quebec, Canada	X	X	There are laws against disturbing the raptors but no real protections for the birds.
Scotland	X	X	Government pays fuel expenses of raptor study group.
South Africa	X		No funding from government. Government raptor monitoring occasionally.
Syria			Government does not support conservation or protection of birds of prey.
USA Idaho	X	X	Government provides habitat preservation, pesticide regulations, and laws and regulations preventing shooting of raptors.
USA Colorado	X	X	Federal, State and Municipal governments make and enforce protection laws.
Venezuela	X		Government does not recognize need for conservation.
Czech Republic	X		Government makes laws about protection of wild animals.
Zimbabwe	X	X	Government protects some raptor species. Not actively pursued.